

My baby loves YUMMY in My Tummy & YOU can WIN some for your baby!

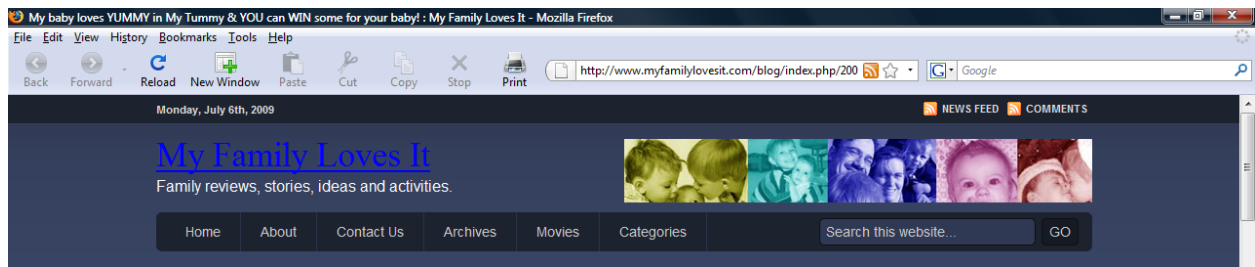

Organic, fresh and appetizing is how I'd describe Yummy in My Tummy baby food. Jillian is my 4th baby so I think I know a little about baby food but I was surprised at the high quality of this food. I know I could never make homemade baby peas taste so good and fresh.

Look at how GREEN the peas are! I love picking raw peas and eating them right from the pod and honestly that's what came to mind when I taste tested them. I tried each of the foods when I fed them to Jillian and they all tasted like they were cooked perfectly. I guess it's because they aren't subjected to the high heat of canning and they are delivered freshly frozen for you to use within a month. I don't think jarred food could ever be this good. Jillian received 21 different containers of baby food to review and she is almost done with them all. Yummy in My Tummy food comes packaged carefully in dry ice and arrives frozen. I put all of it right into the freezer and take out what I need to defrost in the fridge the night before Jillian needs it. She isn't a picky baby but you can tell when she likes something a lot because she is quick to open wide and boy did she open wide and gobble up the whole container of APPLES & BEETS (oh I hate those healthy beets but I'm so happy Jillian likes them!). The only one she tried and didn't like was the creamed spinach (of course a favorite food of mine so go figure!).

Yummy in My Tummy comes in 3 stages: 1 is simple & smooth (I added some rice cereal to them for Jillian because she doesn't need thin food), 2 is textured & tasty (perfect for 8 month Jillian) and 3 is savory & scrumptious (Jillian isn't as into chunky things yet since she got off to a slow start with solids but she seemed to like the two stage 3 she tried). I love that there are so many interesting healthy options, go check out the flavors and tell me what you think of them! If you have a baby that is currently eating baby food you can win your very own supply!
